SUCCESS OF AGRICULTURAL AND FASHION SHOW ASSURED

All Applicants For Space Could Not Be Accomodated By Committee

MANY FEATURES ARE PROMISED

That the agricultural and fashion show, which will be held in Charleroi next Thursday and Friday will be one of the greatest successes of the season is now manifest. Every nook and corner of Turner Hall, where the exhibit will be held has been given over to exhibitors, and the committee was compelled to turn away a number of merchants who asked for space. Not only the main floor and the balcony, but the hallways and the smaller rooms have been apportioned by the committee, in an effort to accommodate all those who made application for space.

However, it was impossible to meet demands. Display space was cut down to the smallest possible area, but even with this contraction the demands were away beyond the supply. The committee was limited to space inside the building and after it was gone there was nothing to do but turn away applicants.

And more than that. Those merchants who have taken space are making the most extensive preparations for the exhibit. Many features are being prepared, and they will give the people as a surprise. After Labor Day the work of preparing the booths will begin, and will continue until everything is in shape. Merchants propose to make attractive displays and the booths themselves will be a refelx of the character of the exhibit.

Farmers and gardeners are also intensely interested in the movement, and the display of farm and garden products is going to be the best ever seen in Charleroi. Fruits and vegetables are plenty this year, and local exhibitors are going to show the best they have. The agricultural feature is going to be a winner, and coupled with the efforts of the merchants, promise to give Charleroi such an exhibition as no other town in the valley has undertaken. It would be advisable therefore for people to save the dates of the 9th and 10th and prepare to visit this exposition of local effort, for it will be well worth going far to see. Admisson is free and the committees in charge extend a cordial and generous welcome to the public.

The Rev. Gomer D. Griffith, rector of the Episcopal church, has returned from his vacation on the Atlantic coast and Lake Erie resorts, much benefitted in health after his long sickness. He will be in charge of all services on Sunday, when special thanksgiving will be offered for his recovery.

CLICKING-NICELING NUPTIALS THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Thursday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock in the pastor's study of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, occurred the marriage of Anthony Joseph Licking of Steubenville, Ohio, and Nellie Mae Niceling, of Charleroi. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of invited guests, by the pastor of the church, the Rev. John R. Burson. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Niceling, who acted in the capacity of best man and bridesmaid. The bride was gowned in a traveling suit of blue and wore a corsage bouquet of roses. She also wore the groom's present, a solitaire diamond ring. The study was decorated with a profusion of flowers that blended with the other decorations. The young couple left on the 5:06 train for an extended visit to Atlantic City and other eastern points and on their return will make their future home in Steubenville, Ohio.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN ON MONDAY NEXT

The Charleroi public schools will open for the coming term on Monday, September 6th. Pupils upon arriving at the various buildings will report to the rooms they left last spring after which they will be placed for the term and lessons assigned, and then dismissed. Those entering for the first time will be required to present a vaccination certificate. All children who will be six years old between September 6 and January 1, 1921, will be admitted. The Superintendent and faculty expect to have all details completed in a short time after pupils report, after which they will be free to spend Labor Day as they may see proper.

CONTRACTING COMPANY MOVES FLOATING PROPERTY

The Dravo Contracting company has removed all of its derrick boats and barges which were used in the construction of the foundation work for the coal hoist for the Pittsburg Steel Company at Monessen, the foundation having been completed in every detail. It required almost six months to complete this contract. The foundation is now ready for the superstructure.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED DONORA WOMEN REGISER

A total of 556 women registered in Donora on Tuesday and Wednesday and will be qualified to vote at the coming election in November, the registration of women in Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela is about the same proportionately.

Fine Program Will Feature Labor Day Demonstration

The committee of the Central Trades Council having in charge the arrangements for the Labor Day Demonstration in Charleroi September 6th wishes to announce through the Charleroi Mail that the Demonstration is expected to be the greatest demonstration ever seen in Charleroi and that no effort has been spared by the Committee to accomplish that aim, having found a ready response by the people in general by their contribution to the celebration fund.

Charleroi is assured of a variety of the best music possible up to date sports and speeches by some of the best men in the Labor movement. The committee desires of giving the best talent to speak on Labor took exception privileges in securing speakers but before selecting the principal speaker Mr. Michael Halay, the committee correspondent with the former Editor of the United Mine Workers Journal and National Statistician and now a candidate for National President of the Mine Workers Organization Mr. Robert Harlin and he highly recommended Mr. Halapy as one of the best posted men on Labor affairs in that great movement.

Mr. Halapy has been for years connected with the Miner's Organization having served on the District Board and has also been the Editor of the United Mine Workers Journal. In this connection it is well to state that Mr. Halapy is a candidate for District President, the office now held by Robert Gibbons of Pittsburg. It has been stated that Mr. Halapy can talk Polish, Slavish and Croation so that the thousands of people who attend this demonstration will hear in their own language the question of Labor to their satisfaction. Also J. M. Fuller will speak on Labor and other prominent subjects. Mr. Fuller is a very pleasing talker and will interest all who hear him.

The committee realizing that Labor Day is the One Big Day for organized Labor, have prepared many attractive sports, sports that can and will be indulged in by old and young for which many prizes have been secured, and there is no doubt but what Charleroi will have the largest demonstration of its career but one of the most enjoyable.

The committee is desirous of having the cooperation of all the people in Charleroi in the efforts to make the demonstration a success and do suggest that the business houses and schools will be closed for the day so that we can truly say that Labor Day is what it is intended to be a "National Holiday."

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR PREVAILING PRICES

The wagon mine operators will be given a hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Quite a number of these operators from this section of the state will be present to take part in the hearing, and a mass of data will be preented to the Commission for consideration.

It is charged by the wagon mine operators that they are not in any way responsible for prices; that their coal is bid for and then taken to tidewater and sold for high figures. Quotatons on coal at tidewater now waiting shipment is $15.00 per ton. The highest price paid here was about $11, but the greater portion of the supply was sold at figures much below that. The wagon mine men charge that the order to refuse them open cars was to allow the tipple men to continue in a market that promises to hold up high prices for some time, but had the wagon loaders been allowed to continue the prices would have been much more reasonable.

PITTSBURG STEEL TO CENTRALIZE ITS WORK

At a luncheon to the superintendents and foremen of the Pittsburg Steel Co., on Tuesday, the assistant treasurer of the corporation, Clayton Snyder, spoke of some of the future plans of the company which are to be placed in effect in the Monessen mill. It is the purpose of the company to place the compensation, employment, safety and the welfare department all under one management and it was announced that J. M. Hennigan would be in charge. The new duties given to Mr. Hennigan are in addition to those as paymaster and will be carried along with his present work.

Notice

All members of the Agricultural and Fashion Display Committee are urged to attend the meeting tonight at City Hall at 8 o'clock. 77-tf

UNCOVER SCHEME TO DEFRAUD COUNTY OUT OF DOG LICENSE

Owners Of Dogs Take Out Kennel License To Escape Fee

PRACTICE PROVES VERY COSTLY

James G. Fox, of Harrisburg, a representative of the department of agriculture, who has been quietly at work in the county for some time to secure evidence and make prosecutions against persons who failed to pay the license fee for their dogs, uncovered a rather glaring attempt made by Washington owners to defraud the county out of $14.50 in fees. The men guilty of this violation are five residents of the Eighth ward of the county seat.

This was the first case of the kind discovered in the state. These men owned 13 dogs, ten males and three females. The owners of these dogs banded together and secured a kennel license, instead of individual licenses for each animal. The law permits a person having a kennel to take out a kennel license, which is issued at the rate of $5 for ten dogs and $10 for over that number. It would have cost these men $24.50 to secure licenses for their 13 dogs under the regular rates, but by taking out a kennel license they secured a reduction of $14.50.

The trouble was they had no kennel. The law requires that to secure a kennel license, all of these dogs must be kept in one kennel. These men had the dogs in a number of locations, in charge of other persons and each dog had its kennel license tag as required.

When taken before a Washington justice Thursday evening they admitted their guilt. They were allowed to fix the matter up by paying the costs, amounting to $6.60 in each case, a total of $33. They were then compelled to take out the proper license, which cost them $24.50. They are out the $10 paid for the kennel license, which makes $43.00 their attempt to defraud Washington county out of cost them.

Mr. Fox has been working on violations of dog license law in Washington since August 5, during which time he has made 500 prosecutions. He has not nearly completed the county, only having covered a small part of it, but he will continue until every unlicensed dog in the county has been rounded up.

It is the duty of the secretary of agriculture to see that this law is enforced throughout the state, and Secretary Rasmussen is determined to see that it is enforced. The law was passed solely for the benefit of farmers, but Mr. Fox in his investigations in this county has found that a large percent of the violators are farmers.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school [illegible] church. Devotions were [illegible] Walter Pangburn. The Home Mission book on "Americanization" by [illegible], was the basis of the study. Mrs. John Campbell was the leader, assisted by Mrs. Bert Mitchell, Mrs. Edwin McKay, Mrs. Pfleghardt and Miss Rita M. Work. The discussion was instructive and entertaining. Special music was featured by Mrs. C. C. Wright in solo work, accompanied by Miss Bethel Bowman. The fall plans and the budget of the year were presented by Mrs. Harry Williamson. The hostesses were Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Bankerd, Mrs. Enix, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Gunderman and Mrs. McQuaide.

CAR SUPPLY FAILS AS MINERS RETURN

The tipple mines of the Pittsburg district had a car supply of 50 per cent for the week ending August 7, according to a statement made on Thursday by R. W. Gardiner, commissioner of the Pittsburg Coal Producers' Association, in discussing the wagon mine question. For the week ending August 14 it was 65 per cent, for that ending August 21 it was 88 per cent, and for the week ending August 28 it was 59 per cent.

"These figures," said Mr. Gardiner, "mean that for the week ending August 21, when the car supply was 88 per cent of the requirements of the operators, coal miners who had left the mines because there was not sufficient work, or to work in wagon mines, returned to tipple mines, with the natural result, shown for the week ending August 28, that with more men working, the car supply from the railroads fell to 59 per cent of the requirements of the operators."

A number of the Pittsburg coal operators will be present at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington tomorrow, when the wagon mine operators will present their case.

Marriage license was issued in Pittsburg on Wednesday to Harry W. Carson and Leola E. Frye both of Charleroi.

There were 509 women assessed in Monongahela, and who thus prepared themselves to be registered preparatory to the November election. Yesterday was first registration day there, with September 14 and October 2 as additional registration days.

The fourth annual reunion of the Hill family will be held at Eldora Park tomorrow. With favorable weather a large assemblage is expected.

A MIGHTY DIFFERENCE

In leading editorial published recently The Sun and New York Herald thus speaks of the charges made by Mr. Cox about the so-called Republican "slush" fund:

There is a mighty difference of culpability of a cheap, sharp little ward politician attempting to mislead the public by distortion and misrepresentation and a like distortion and misrepresentation by a Presidential candidate.

No one places any confidence in the professional ward politician. He may do or say anything to carry a point and little importance attaches to it. The reason is that men do not look in his direction for character, and startling utterances without character do not make a ripple in the community.

But the Presidential candidate, the actual nominee of a great party, stands out with us as a great figure, a man of rock-ribbed character, a man of superb dignity, to whom little acts, small petty acts, the acts of the sharp little ward politician in matters political, would be abhorrent and impossible.

Because of this ideal of the man selected by his party for the first office in the land, because of this ideal which mirrors the composite of our Presidents from Washington to Wilson, it is shocking to see Mr. Cox descend to demagogic levels in his fight for election.

In what he has said of Republican campaign funds, the brazen, blatant way he has said it, has written him down as a person wholly unfit to be President of these United has written him down as a man ready to delude and mislead that he may gain advantage over his opponent in the Presidential race; has written him down as indifferent to facts and to the verities of the situation; has written him down as a sharp little man without bigness of soul, bigness of vision or appreciation of the great role he is playing as the nominee of a great political party for President of the United States.

The facts as disclosed before the Kenyon campaign committee annihilates the Cox charges of the Republican corruption fund: the facts show that the money so far received by the Republican campaign committee is only a trifle over a million dollars: and getting it in small contributions as Mr. Hays hopes to do, is not big with promise for even the necessary amount to run a national political campaign.

No one knows better the falsity of the "slush fund" charges he has been making than Governor Cox himself; no one knows better than he that the quota figures of the drive artist mean little in truth: no one knows better than he, a shrewd business man, that it isn't within the bounds of possibilities to raise fifteen millions of dollars in small contributions for campaign purposes, and knowing this his slush fund accusations were downright dishonest.

NULLIFICATION

A correspondent of an eastern paper speaking of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, asks the pertinent question, "Will the Negro women of the South have a vote?" His opinion is that the men of the South in the future will nullify the effects of this amendment as they have nullified the Fourteenth Amendment in the past, which confers the right of suffrage on the male Negro. And another correspondent points out the inconsistency of Mr. Cox in his preachments of justice and law enforcement with the Solid South hanging about his neck. The correspondent says that Mr. Cox is to be benefitted by Republican disfranchisment in the South, and he knows it, yet he is running around the country talking about justice and honesty. When it comes to the right of "self-determination" and "making the world safe for democracy," many are of the opinion that the United States offers a splendid field in which to put these ideals into practice.

TERM THAT BANISHED ANGER

Appellation Bestowed on "Bachelor Maids" Put Further Animosity Out of the Question.

The two Elton sisters, age thirty and [illegible] were [illegible] next to the Smith sisters, about that [illegible], who are also retired and given to the occupations of crocheting and quilt piecing. The Elton sisters speak of themselves as "old maids," and the Smith sisters as "gassy old maids," in order to distinguish between them. Also they are given to much pitying of the second-class ladies.

But the other evening one of the Elton sisters, clad in a bungalow apron, was out sprinkling the lawn. As she moved around the house she heard the Smiths in conversation. "Yes, sister, age has its compensations," one was saying. "Now look at those girls next door. They no sooner get home than they get into those aprons, so scanty that they are immodest. Of course, they're just girls, but still—"

That was enough for Miss Elton. With a rush she was in the house. "Oh, Gen," she fairly [illegible] breathlessly, "those Smiths are real nice. We've got to stop calling them pesky old maids."

And now generously the Eltons speak of them as "the other old maids."

New Glass Industry.

Important developments are eventually probable on the northern borders of Dartmoor, in Devonshire, England, in consequence of the discovery of a very large deposit of granulite, a substance of much value in the manufacture of glass. According to experts, "granulite contains not only silica, but potash, soda and alumina, which are necessary in glass making, and its use is not only economical, but gives the best results in the production of glassware of the highest quality." It is stated that an experimental furnace has been in use for some time, two others are being constructed, and it is anticipated that the commercial manufacture of glass will commence almost immediately.—Scientific American.

"Goes Broke" in Vaudeville.

It is said that the first man to undertake to produce vaudeville in America was Silas W. Stokes of San Francisco, who inherited $400,000 from his uncle in 1865, and not being used to handling money in large quantities, started in to spend it freely. He went on a trip to Europe and spent most of his time at the Alhambra music hall in London, and launched a project to start the "New York Alhambra." His idea was approved by a number of amusement people, and he hired hundreds of them to come to the United States. But his money ran out and he left his party on a boat in New York bay and disappeared.

Muscle Massage in Rickets.

As an aftermath of undernourishment during the war period, rickets has become a common disease among children in Germany. To stimulate the flabby muscles of these little patients, without risking malformation of the softened bones, many curious devices have come into use, according to an illustrated story appearing in the August issue of Popular Mechanics magazine. In treating the jaw and neck muscles, for example, the subject is laid on an inclined board, while the nurse stands at the head and manipulates a harness of two straps.

GAME PRESERVE NEAR ELIZABETH

A number of leases have been acquired on farms in Elizabeth and Forward townships, Allegheny county, on which the state proposes to establish a game preserve. Already leases for over 500 acres have been secured from farmers, and it is the purpose of the state to stock these lands with small game, which will be closed for a certain period to all hunters.

Adjustable Stopper.

A bottle stopper is of rubber with a piece of screw imbedded in the center. The lower end of the screw is enlarged in a brass washer so as to turn without unscrewing the thread, but a second washer at the top of the screw is acted on by the screw in the usual way. Turning the screw to the right draws the washers nearer together, expanding the rubber so as to hold the stopper securely in the container. When the screw is turned to the left, the washers are pushed farther apart, the rubber is contracted, and the stopper is withdrawn without effort.

Japanese Launchings Are "Dry."

The Japanese ceremonies attending the launching of a ship, as described by a writer, are begun with a religious ceremony. Then the ship is released in the usual way, but instead of breaking a bottle of champagne across her stem, great quantities of cut flowers, usually chrysanthemums, and the sponsor's bouquet and a number of live pigeons are scattered from a decorated globe suspended over the launching platform, the sponsor pulling a cord. The flowers fall about the launching party as the freed birds circle overhead.

Quick-Witted Justice.

Apparently poverty-stricken, save for the blushing bride at his elbow, the newly made bridegroom asked the magistrate the charges for having tied the nuptial knot. The judge regarding with sympathy and compassion, said, "Two dollars and a half, friend." The swain extracted a roll that would have taxed the contractile muscle of a mule's throat. The eyes of the judge bulged, but he thought quickly, and added the single word, "Each."—American Legion Weekly.

MORO A DANGEROUS FANATIC

Believes Eternal Bliss to Be His if He Meets Death While Killing Christians.

The psychology of Mohammedanism is incomprehensible to persons reared in the atmosphere and teachings of American Christianity. With us the separation of church and state is as much a matter of course as the air we breathe. With us suicide is immoral and the killing of an unbeliever is a crime punishable with death. The Mohammedan has no conception of ecclesiastical and state law. There is only one law, the Koran; and while in fact the priest and the ruler may be different persons, they are different only in a functional way, like a judge and an executive in our government. The spiritual ruler is also temporal ruler, as was Mohammed in his day. The killing of Christians is a virtue that merits everlasting bliss in paradise. The martyrs of the early Christian church burned with no more consuming ardor than the humble, ignorant Mohammedan peasants who swear before the priest that they will go forth and devote their lives to killing Christians. Mohammedans who have sworn to kill Christians are called in the Philippines juramentados, from the Spanish, meaning one who has sworn or taken an oath. Up to a decade ago it was no uncommon occurrence in Jolo for a Moro fanatic to conceal his bolo knife, or kris, in a basket of fruit until he had passed the guard at the gate of the walled town, then draw his blade and cut right and left, killing man, woman or child, with perfect impartiality, until a bullet from the guard stopped his advance. It was this indomitable will to kill that gave the Christian Filipino his mortal fear of the Moro in times past.—O. Garfield Jones, in Asia.

HAVE TO WAIT TO UNLOAD

Shipping Congestion at London Docks Said to Be of an Extraordinary Character.

A writer to the London Times describes the Victoria and Albert docks at Tilbury as being "crowded to their fullest capacity with big ships," many of which "look absolutely dead for the simple reason that they can not be unloaded because there is nowhere to put their cargoes." Of ships carrying Australian meat it is said to be "a common thing to wait anything up to a month for a berth and to lie another month tied up against the wharf, unloading and reloading." Inefficiency of labor is in a large degree responsible, for the average discharging output per shift of 13 men in a nine-hour day has been reduced from 100 to 63 tons. The cause is partly the loss of many good men in the war, partly loafing on the job to make work for as many men as possible. Congestion of the ports is attributed to state control over essential imports, to state control over railroads, and to reduction of the hours of labor. By these means the carrying power of ships has been reduced at least 30 per cent below pre-war

Real Neighborliness.

An interesting experiment in neighborliness has been carried on for nearly a year in a part of Toledo which is populated almost exclusively by Polish immigrants and their descendants. The Polish Business Men's club of the district conceived the idea that the needy Polish families in the community should be taken care of in a neighborly way, rather than by charity organizations. The latter were requested not to extend aid in the district, but to notify the club, so that it might meet all emergencies. This is not done from the club treasury, however. An investigation is made to determine whether the need is for money, supplies or work, and the other residents of the block, including the tradesmen, are then informed that their neighbors need their assistance, which, the club reports, is always forthcoming.

Immunity From Whooping Cough.

Dr. T. Luzzati of Rome was called to three different houses, in each of which a child had begun to cough. In each case he suspected that it might be whooping cough; therefore, as a precaution, he vaccinated all the brothers and sisters with an anti-whooping-serum. Ten days later his suspicion was confirmed by the typical whoop, but in no case did one of the other children catch the disease, though no attempt at isolation was made.

In reporting this to Policlinics (Rome) Doctor Luzzati says he has found no benefit from vaccination once the disease has become pronounced.

Curing Intolerance of Milk.

Dr. Gougerot reports to the French [illegible] that a baby born [illegible] could not take milk in any form was cured by three subcutaneous injections, one every other day, of 5, 10 and 30 minims of sterilized cow's milk. The third injection was followed by violent vomiting [illegible] but from this moment the baby tolerated milk by the mouth in progressive doses, beginning with five and ending with 250 grams a day.

National Amenities.

Dan Boone will return to the state of Kentucky a flag which was captured from Kentucky volunteers at the battle of the Thames in Michigan in the war of 1812. The Kentucky legislature has appropriated money to send to England a commissioner who will bring back the flag. This commissioner, James Buchanan of Louisville, is a descendant of the commander of the Kentucky troops in the battle.

"Kist of Whistles."

The first organ ever used in a Scotch Presbyterian church was built by the famous inventor, James Watt. It was a small chamber affair set up for his own use. Upon going to Birmingham to live he left it behind him in Glasgow. There it came into the possession of the minister of St. Andrew's church. For some time the organ was used for weekday choir practice only. On a Sunday in August, 1807, however, an organist of the Episcopalian faith earned that denomination the name of the "whistling kirk." The shocked presbytery declared the use of the "kist of whistles" contrary to the Kirk law, and it was immediately cast out after a single service. Not until 1859 was the organ tolerated in St. Andrew's. The ancient instrument ejected by the Presbytery of St. Andrew's is said to be still in existence in the house of a Scottish squire near Elgan.

Indians Once Lived in Spain.

That the remote ancestors of the American Indians may have lived in Spain in prehistoric days is indicated by some very remarkable discoveries of rock paintings that archeologists [illegible] Basque in the hilly country north of Alpera, a Spanish town about half way between Albacete, situated in the plains of La Mancha, and Alicante, on the Mediterranean. Anthropologists also say that these discoveries throw a fresh light upon the life of prehistoric man in southwestern Europe during the Magdalenian period of the great ice age. These Paleolithic tribes, when not compelled by the vigor of the climate to and their dwelling in caverns where they obtained protection against both the intense cold and the attacks of ferocious animals, lived under rock shelters on the sides of valleys.—Detroit News.

Bread Kneaded on Korean Streets.

Bread is kneaded on the streets, and with an excellent thoroughness, in Korea. After mixing, the dough is placed on a board in the road in front of the little bakeshop. Then two stalwart Koreans proceed to pound it with great beetles. The natives do not claim that the quality of the bread is improved by the addition of impurities in the way of insects and dust which naturally result from the open-air treatment, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. But if one objects to eating it, a native will quote a proverb which, being interpreted, runs: "He who would enjoy his food should not look over the kitchen wall."

The Cuckoo.

There is probably no division of the bird family that has so many different members as the cuckoo. In fact, they are so numerous that some localities have a special name for a kind that in another adjoining district may have an entirely different name, although it is the identical bird. For instance, the Caroline cuckoo is known as the yellow-billed cuckoo in different sections of the United States, and quite unlike its European cousins it hasn't the bad habit of placing its eggs in the nest of some other bird to be hatched while it flies around and enjoys itself.

Measuring Height of Trees.

To measure the height of a tree which stands so that the length of the shadow can be measured, set a stick upright, letting it form right angle with the surface of the ground. As the length of the shadow of the stick is to the height of the stick, so is the length of the shadow of the tree to the height of the tree. The tree must stand so the length of its shadow can be measured. Multiply the length of the shadow of the tree by the height of the stick, and divide by the length of the shadow of the stick.

"Anatomy of Melancholy."

This was written by Robert Burton (1577-1640), an ecclesiastic, a recluse, an eccentric. After 30 years of reading and study, it is said that he wrote to amuse himself, and it is an enormous medley of ideas, musical, medical, poetical, mathematical and physiological, every page garnished with Latin, Greek or French from rare and unknown authors. It is the only book which interested the famous Doctor Johnson to such an extent that he arose two hours earlier than his wont in order to read it.

Inventor of Paper Money.

The first paper money was used in 1458. It was invented by a Count de Tendilla, while besieged in Alhambra, Granada. He had no gold or silver with which to pay his troops, and gave them pieces of paper on which he inscribed various sums, signing each with his own hand and name. The soldiers were thus able to purchase necessaries from the people of the town and the count ultimately redeemed the paper money.

Banjo Originated in India.

The modern banjo was introduced into England from America, to which country it was probably taken by the African slaves who originally obtained the idea from India. The unmusical name "banjo" seems to have been derived from "banya," the name of a Senegambian instrument of the guitar species.

Holy Cities of Old World.

Allahabad is the holy city of the Indian Mohammedans, Benares is the holy city of the Hindus, while Cuzco is that of the ancient Incas. Jerusalem is the holy city of the Jews and Christians, Mecca, Medina and Damascus have first place

GLORY DESTROYED BY TIME

Of the Once Mighty Cities of Babylon and Nineveh Hardly a Vestige Remains.

When the ancient kingdom of the Assyrians fell through effeminacy and neglect some [illegible] years after the Trojan war, many petty states arose out of its ruins, two of which raised themselves to a high degree of power. The kings of Media subdued the mountain land of Persia, and established relations of amity with hordes that wandered on the eastern side of the Caspian sea; they conquered also a portion of the empire which had centered in Nineveh. At the same time the king of Babel, or Babylon, there established with still greater magnificence and power.

In Babylon, ancient seat of learning and science, Nabopolassar, after a long period of anarchy and division, erected a most powerful monarchy, whose sceptre Nebuchadnezzar, his son, extended from the Caucasus mountains, where he defeated the Iberians, to the sandy deserts of Lybia. He burnt Jerusalem; defeated Ammon, Moab and Edom; conquered Tyre, the [illegible] city of the Phoenicians; laid waste Egypt, and formed his empire on new boundaries. He adorned Babylon, the city of his residence, with the noblest works of architecture, but of this city the ruins are scarcely discernible. It is still more difficult to trace the vestiges of Nineveh, which lie a three days' journey from it, and whose ruins have sunk in the marshy soil.

WHITES TO ABSORB MAORIS?

That Fate, Rather Than Extinction, Said to Be Assured to New Zealand Tribe.

The ingenuous explanation that they wouldn't have eaten neighbors had beef, mutton or pork been more abundant on the early New Zealand market stamps the native Maoris as a race with working brains, and their physiques have long been praised. It is not surprising, therefore, that, as a correspondent records, these aborigines are among the few in modern times who, instead of promptly vanishing, will doubtless be absorbed into the white man's family.

Fifty thousand pure-bred Maoris still remain, half of whom are practically civilized. Many have attained to high political position. There are four Maori members in the house of representatives, two in the legislative council and one is an important minister in the executive council.

Themselves Polynesians of remote East Indian blood, these natives, be it added, are not strictly aboriginals. They are thought to have "displaced, a la table d'hote, some 500 years ago a savory stock of Melanesians or Papuans."

Has Served Country Well.

Senor Portal, for the last 30 years the leading journalist of Peru and the author of 12 "best sellers" in that country, has done for his native land what Luis Taboada did for Spain, Mark Twain for the United States, and, long ago, Moliere for France; while waging war with his pen, he has created true literature. Thirty years ago, when he laid down the sword he had carried with honor through the Peruvian struggle with Chile, he took up arms against every imaginable weakness, shortcoming, sin, and vice of his fellow countrymen; and in laughter-provoking sarcasm and scathing irony he has depicted all the wickedness to which flesh—and particularly Peruvian flesh—is heir.

Velocity of Light.

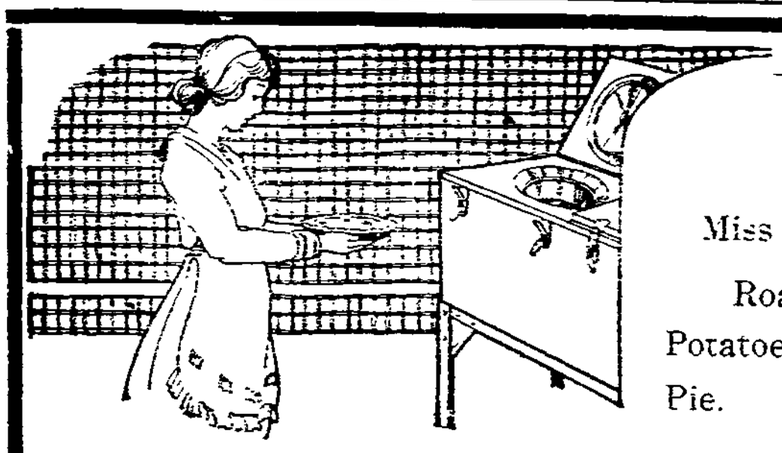
Physicists never tire of efforts to increase the accuracy of their knowledge of the fundamental facts of science. A redetermination of the velocity of light by the Fizeau toothed wheel method was made at Nice. These experiments were remarkable on account of the great distance over which the beam of light employed was transmitted. Previously such a beam had been caused to travel about fifteen miles, but on this occasion the reflecting mirror was so placed that the total distance traversed by the beam, going and returning, was fifty-seven miles. The mean of 1100 observations gave for the velocity of light 186,[illegible] miles a second.

Get Lucky Tips in Dreams.

When an Italian has a dream he doesn't go tell his friends about it for the sake of making conversation, but hurries to get his dream book to find out what the dream portends. The book has a number for everything man wears, has, eats and sees. Things shown in a dream are looked up, and the corresponding numbers are played by the Italian in the week's national lottery. And if he doesn't win, says Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post, he feels positive that somebody with the Evil Eye has looked at him and broken his chances. The man with the Evil Eye is hated, feared and shunned.

Keeping Water Cool.

The only way to keep water cool is to surround it with some material that is a bad conductor of heat, or in other words, does not pass on the heat too rapidly. The poorest conductor of heat is a vacuum or space from which the air has been excluded; hence, a thermos or vacuum flask makes the best container for cold water. Other bad conductors of heat are wood, leather, felt, horn, bone; containers made of or covered with these materials will keep liquids cooler than those made of metal or glass.



Miss Perkins will cook

Roast Veal, Sweet Potatoes, Spice Cake, Peach Pie.

Saturday, 2 P. M.

Won't you be one of the women to attend this demonstration and taste the delicious things cooked in the "Domestic Science?" Hear how to cut your fuel bills 80 per cent; learn how to save food and have better cooked meals with infinitely less trouble. You will be made to realize more than ever before how much time and comfort the "Domestic Science" will give you.

The "Domestic Science" Fireless Cookstove has a number of unduplicated features which enables it to bake and brown as no other can. Among these are the famous Water Seal Top, the automatic heat conserving steam valve, the extra heavy strata-laid insulation, the strong, durable, aluminum lining of extra quality. Ask about them when you come.

Saturday Last Day of Fascinating Lectures on Fireless Cooking. All Women Invited.

Less 10 Per Cent

A wonderfully interesting demonstration of "Domestic Science" Fireless Cookstoves is being held in our store this week. It will be a revelation to every woman—even those who think they already know all the possibilities of fireless cooking. They will find new uses for fireless cookery, learn how to bake, roast and brown, as well as boil and stew by conserved heat. They will even discover how to freeze ice cream in these cookers.

Domestic Science Fireless Cookers

Enameled steel outer casing, rustproof. Extra heavy seamless aluminum cooking compartments. Scientific hand packed insulation. Patented exclusive waterseal covers and heat conserving valves insure perfect results. Full equipment of "ideal" aluminum utensils. Radiator thermometer.

THE DRIFT TO THE CITIES

and the continued movement away from the farm today greatly increases the economic importance of the farmer who stays on the job.

His numbers diminished, the nation's demands upon him for food and clothing increased, a great responsibility rests upon his shoulders.

Our many years of close cooperation with local farming interests have given us a practical, common-sense understanding of the farmer's problems. This enables us to render a banking service which farmers find especially helpful under present conditions.
